

Gulls are common waterbirds found around the world. Unlike many waterbirds, seagulls do not dive underwater for food, but fish only on the surface. The laughing gull is less of a scavenger than most gulls. Laughing gulls hunt fish, shrimp and crabs in shallow areas. Laughing gulls' common call is a "ha-ha-ha" which gives this bird its name.